

- there is always a positive side to any situation. As I mentioned, she has terrible people surrounding her, but she doesn't really mind it, and at the end, she got the opportunity to go study at a university in England. In conclusion, the title "Chinese Cinderella" really fits the story, because it lets the readers know that even if a situation has many negative things, there is always something good and positive. ✓

